Mac.Q: How to verify object key property value is nil/empty I've been struggling with this for a bit and can't seem to find a good answer to it. I have this kind of object data: { "5454" = 1; "11554" = 3; "5542" = 1; } In this object. I want to verify whether the keys of each object are nil or empty, and if it is, then I want to set it to be 0. What I have done thus far is: let df = data.map(Transform.parse) // example data for (let n, i) in df // here I need to verify if the key is not empty, and then set the value to 0 } I can't find a good way to do this or even if it's possible. I would need something like:

data[0]!.key!.length > 0 A: You can flatten the array and check if the length is greater than 0: for (let n, i) in data.values().flatMap(x => x) { if (i.length > 0) { i = f678ea9f9e
